Denis is a phenomenal historian, who has traveled extensively, enabling him to share with students how to relate with diverse people from various cultures. From the moment he begins speaking, students and adults alike are enthralled by his travels. He describes his journey step by step, including details of the various cultures he has experienced. He provides a fresh perspective on the vastness of travel and respect for human experiences around the globe. This allows him to bring the story of Marco Polo to life, speaking from Marco Polo's point of view. He makes reference to Polo's will and uses geographical descriptions. Quoting the documentary he says, "Open your minds to different cultures and different people." This has proved to be a viable asset to our curriculum.

During the hour and a half Denis spoke, the high school students and staff were engaged seemingly sitting on the edge of their seats awaiting their turn to ask a question, and even more eager to hear his response. He supplied wisdom and inspiration, ultimately leaving our students with a desire to dream in a world of limitless opportunities. I highly recommend Denis as a speaker to any school or youth group.
